

Stanford | Summer Humanities Institute

Discover the World of Humanities This Summer

3 Weeks • Grades 10 - 11 Residential Program

Stanford Summer Humanities Institute offers rising high school juniors and seniors the opportunity to explore the humanities and engage with fields of study that go beyond what is typically taught at the high school level.

Program Dates:

Session One: June 21 - July 10, 2026

Session Two: July 12 - 31, 2026

Tuition: $8,850

Need-based financial aid is available.

Humanities Enrichment

Engage with Stanford University's humanities and social sciences by exploring challenging texts, crafting college-level papers, and discussing complex ideas. Enhance academic skills through immersive writing and thought-provoking discussions.

Profound Conversations

Join in discussions with Stanford professors and graduate students on impactful themes from lectures and readings. Throughout the session, share interpretations and deepen understanding of powerful ideas through dynamic lectures, readings, and discussion sections.

Passionate Peers

Connect with peers from across the world who share your passion for the humanities. Together, explore history, question current perspectives, and envision future possibilities in a community of inquisitive learners.
